

Do you work with multilingual learners in schools?

Come and join our EAL Teach Meet for a day of sharing and learning on 8th June 2018

- Hear from experts, experienced and novice classroom practitioners from across all phases about what works and why.
- Share effective practices, strategies and resources – bring something and take something away!

For the day you will be expected to:

- Share with the group an initiative or strategy that you successfully use to make a difference to EAL learners;
- Present evidence of the difference your strategy has made to you and your EAL learners;
- Bring examples of resources and children's work to share.

On the day you will:

- Hear from UCL Institute of Education experts about the latest research;
- Gain insights into successful strategies deployed by other colleagues;
- Have the opportunity to explore challenges and solutions with other EAL practitioners;
- Share effective practice and pedagogy in a supportive and innovative environment;
- Take away new ideas for your classroom/setting.
